FY02 (July 1st, 2001 to June 30, 2001) Budget Requests!

from Andrew Metz and the Budget Committee

It's hard to believe that it's time to plan for next year's purchases! During this fiscal year (FY01), the Business Office staff tried to win your trust by making its services efficient and speedy. We want to continue improving our services to you for FY02. A new group has been formed to expedite the procedure for making purchases. Known as the "Budget Committee", its members are from the Administrative Team. This group will determine the needs of our school and its divisions. The object of the group is to meet our students' needs and yet stay within our school budget. (Alas, the school has been in the red for the last couple of years.)

The Business Office has some changes in the "request for purchases" procedure so that the Budget Committee's goals can be attained. Please take time to read the brief procedures (see below) and share/discuss it with your supervisor, division head and department members.

New Process

- 1) Requestor (Yes - That's You!) - First Line ISD Employee completes new form for supplies, equipment, software or hardware and sends requests to the Department Secretary. (Deadline is to be determined by your immediate supervisor.)
- 2) Department Head/Supervisor via Secretary assigns tracking number and prioritizes requests. Requests are submitted to the Budget Committee by April 17 by the Division Head. (Dean of Students, Principal, etc.)
- 3) Budget Committee reviews requests from all of the divisions
- 4) Announcement by the Budget Committee for Budget Approvals (By May 1)
- 5) Meeting with Purchasing Agent (Pam Gothreau) by First Line Employee if required to fill in any missing information
- 6) Business Office processes your orders during June & July with delivery at the beginning of the school year (This is the reason for the changes!)

New Standardized Forms (Available On-line at Z Drive)

Service (Point 2 & 3) - Renting, Training/Workshop, Pager Service, etc.

Supplies (Point 4) - Consumable goods

Equipment (Furniture) (Point 5) - Non-Consumable goods

Software

Computer Hardware

Rule of Thumb - Anything that is in, on, or connected to the computers and anything that "results" on the computer (such as a digital camera is not necessarily physically connected to our computers, but results from them go back to computers)

You'll need to complete the appropriate form, attach a picture of the item from the catalogue or Internet, list three vendors and one cost estimate of the item. FACTS ABOUT ISD

Race/Ethnicity

Analysis of the ethnic/racial category of students enrolled will show that ISD is primarily populated with Caucasian students. Based on the December 1 headcount, data indicate the following:

- The number of Caucasian students increased by 14% in the 2000-2001 school year as compared with the 1995-96 school year.
- While the number of Black American students remained relatively stable over the 6-year period, the number of Black American students decreased by 9% in the 2000-2001 school year as compared with the 1995-96 school year.
- Students from Hispanic, Asian, Multiracial and American Native categories represent a significantly small number of the total student population. Only 5% of the total student body comprises these four categories. However, it is important to note that the number of Hispanic students increased by 130% in the 2000-2001 school year as compared with the 1995-96 school year.

The Battle of the Sexes Is A TIE! - Last night, the Junior Varsity Boys played the Varsity Girls in "The Battle of the Sexes". The boys got off to a strong lead, but the girls fought back with help from creative scorekeeping to tie the game at the buzzer. The game was filled with interesting moments including the referee (David Reynolds) being accidentally knocked to the gym floor by Valerie Sharer, Ken Kramer serving as water boy for the girls' team and the girls trying a 3-3-zone defense. It was great fun for all!

HS Varsity Girls - Please excuse the Varsity Girls Basketball Team on Friday, March 2 at 11:00 am. They will attend the Optimist Club's "Countdown to Finals" honoring the eight teams. Ken Kramer will accompany the girls to the luncheon. They will return at 2:15. Preschool & NARYC - Preschool is working on accreditation from the National Association for the Education of Young Children. The staff has completed their questionnaires that evaluate various aspects of Preschool. There were only two areas that need improvement:

- New staff training
 - Volunteers and staff are familiar with primary and secondary evaluation procedures with children monthly.
- The staff has also completed the parts relating to qualifications and classroom schedules. Parent questionnaires were mailed last week. The department needs need analyze the parents' questionnaires and identify necessary improvements. The Supervising Teacher, Curriculum Director and Principal are completing their portions. Preschool's goal is to complete everything by Spring Break.

Reminder - Staff visiting a classroom must first stop by the supervising teacher's office. In a meeting with a teacher yesterday, it was brought up that classes are interrupted often without supervising teachers' approval, i.e. a staff member entering a yearbook class to discuss an athletic issue with a teacher, not related to the yearbook class. Please contact the supervising teacher before you bother a class.

Visit Comments - Comments from Harrison High School students (Lafayette) after their February visitation at ISD:

- I thought it was neat that they had T.V.'s. Everything they learn is the same except they learn sign language. It's pretty neat how they do that!
- The Deaf School was really interesting to me. I was amazed at the T.V.'s around the halls for announcements and other things like that. I really liked having some of the students come out to the hall and speak to us in American Sign Language.
- I thought it was cool that the Deaf School had 21 different buildings. The sign language that was painted on the wall was something that also was very cool. And the dorms almost looked like they were college dorms.

- I would like to learn sign language now.
- The kids there seemed more cheerful than at our high school and the building was brighter and happier.
- I thought the distance learning was neat. I didn't know that each country has its own sign language. I was also surprised at how big the campus was. We were told that it was just like a college, but seeing is believing.
- It was interesting to learn the different ways that it is thought to be polite.
- The school is very good at sports....especially the girls' basketball team.
- There seemed to be computers in every room! I wish our school was more like that!
- It was interesting to see how your system works. You have a really great school, cool teachers, and really nice students!
- I liked how the teachers teach one on one.

ATHLETES - LAST WARNING - You must pay $4.00 for team and individual pictures by Monday, March 5th or YOUR PICTURE WILL NOT BE ORDERED. Give money to coaches or Brian Bippus ASAP!!

Job Skills Training Center and City Food Partnership. J.S.T.C. (Job Skills Training Center) and City Food have entered into a partnership. Tricia Mera and Shane Strodman are the volunteer staff with City Food. They will be on campus today working along side J.S.T.C. students at the Wehring Wetlands Greenhouse. City Food is a non-profit organization that envisions a city of many thriving agricultural applications doing entrepreneurship, beautification, healthful eating and an ecologically conscious community life. Please show Tricia and Shane a warm ISD welcome.

ISDT TV Update - ISDTV has been expanded again! PreSchool and Assessment are now able to receive ISDTV. Prechool's TV is still on a cart and will eventually be mounted on their hallway. Assessment's TV is on a TV stand which goes nicely with the rest of their lobby furniture. The Vocational Building is the last remaining building of those targeted buildings that does not have ISDTV installed yet (although MML and Technology Center already have ISDTVs). We have already ordered our next batch of 12 TVs, which will expand and compliment the ISDTV infrastructure. Also, we are researching the purchasing of one critical piece of equipment (to be installed in the TV Studio, which is the center of this ISDTV network) that would allow us to combine and control various TV inputs (Time Warner Cable, VCRs, DVDs, Live, etc.) and broadcast our own exclusive channel lineup. Once that piece of equipment is purchased and installed, everyone, especially in the dorms, will be able to view more channels besides ISDTV.

A two-way video system has been installed in the Auditorium. One unit is set up next to the light control box in the upper level. Another unit is set up on the right side of the stage. This system will enable visual communication between the light technician and the stage manager during any show events. This system was something we wanted for a long time. Melba Bippus, Yvonne Catt, and Debbie Fetzer will be trained on how to use the system.

Opportunities

DO YOU WANT TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE???? - You have the opportunity to make a difference in eliminating breast cancer by joining the ISD Team in the Race for the Cure. This race encourages participants to ask friends, co-workers and family for pledges to help eradicate breast cancer. The 5k Run and/or Walk race will be held on April 21 on the IUPUI campus starting at 9 a.m. Two years ago, we had 65 staff, Ball State participants and friends sign up to be a part of the ISD Team. We would like to top that number for the 2001 race. Help us meet our goal by signing up for the race as soon as possible. The registration for the race is $18.00, and you will get a t-shirt with your registration. You can pick up a registration form from your Supervising and/or Dean. Please return all signed registration forms and checks to Mary Alice Moon by Tuesday, March 27, 2001. She has a mailbox in Donna Stutler's office. Internet Projects

These sites will aid teachers who are looking for Internet project for their classes. Internet Projects typically involve some sort of joint venture in which students from different classes around the country, continent, or world work together. They are curriculum-based and will often involve each classroom obtaining local information, conducting research, and/or producing a product. Electronic sharing between classes can occur during the classwork itself or after the "product" has been prepared. Please read our disclaimer.

FIREBALLS AT WORK - Fireballs to all staff today who will talk to students about yesterday's tragedy in the California High School. There are two common issues in almost all of the school violence that has been in the national news over the past few years:

1. Students who committed acts of violence where picked on by other students prior to the violent act.
2. Students who committed acts of violence usually told (bragged or threatened) their friends about their intentions before activity.

Today would be a great day to emphasize to students the ideas of tolerance, patience, school family, and working with staff to ensure a safe, caring, and nurturing school environment.

Indiana Boys' Basketball – What a powerful sectional tournament as I was well prepared for the first time in this high reputation basketball state tournament! Prior to the sectional game, we were facing an excellent and well-known basketball program, #19 in the state, Lapel. Lapel is known as a hard nose man to man defense team! Historically, ISD has never had a close game with this team or won a sectional game since 1983 when we won our last-time sectional. We lost to Lapel, 64-59, but this was the "Best GAME of the Year!" Read on below...

At the start of the game, we played a tough man-to-man defense to control their pose. In the first half, play was so tense and we were down by 7 points, 24-31, at halftime. Near the end of the third quarter, we trimmed our deficit to bring us within 4. In the fourth quarter, we used tough pressure defense to rally and take a 3 point lead when Robert Haney stole the opponent's ball out of his hand, scrambled the loose ball down the end of the court, and used a two handed thunder dunk over an opponent attempting to block the shot. It was one of Robert's best slam-dunks of the year! We continued to keep the game tense and close. Nearing the end of the game, Lapel found and ruined our pose button. We threw away two ghost passes and Lapel scored those unanswered points from our turnovers. Their free throws were hot as they shot 14 for 16. Four of our players scored double figures.

After the game, we received an inspiring standing ovation from a very large crowd of fans, non-playing basketball players and coaches from other schools who witnessed this game. I have never experienced this kind of recognition before. Our team and I received positive compliments from them. This 1A tournament included teams equivalent to some of the 3A schools in Missouri where I coached last year.

I am very proud of our boys as they completed our mission to finish the season strong in spite of facing some tough opponents in the state, some heartbreak games, and winning the season with a record of 12-9! This team is the same original players since October 30th! – Coach Keith Westhoelter Koob/Fair Hall Phone Disruption – There will be a scheduled phone downtime in the Koob & Fair Halls this afternoon. Sprint technicians will be moving the existing phone connections to the new connections that they just installed. They will work in the Fair Hall first, for about three hours, then they will move to Koob Hall next for another three hours. For any questions or concerns contact Jay Krieger or Dan Stutler.

Indiana Severe Weather Awareness Week – ISD will participate in a statewide severe (tornado) weather drill between 1:30 and 2:0 pm on Wednesday, March 7, 2001. Teachers should review severe weather procedures with their students (where to go and how to sit) and make sure they have their roster books with them during the drill.

Pam's number is 924-8402, and it is best to call before 7:00 a.m. (especially if a sub is needed). Pam arrives at 6:30 a.m., or messages can be left anytime prior to Pam's arrival on voice/tty mail. Be sure to include your name at the beginning of the message and at the end of the message also to assure it was recorded.

State Employees' Community Campaign Contribution – We received information from State Personnel in regards to our State Employees' Campaign. Our contribution to the United Way went up this year by 20.1% and it helped SECC reach its' goal of $925,000 for this year, but the best news is it totaled out to $940,000.

We have 265 employees, 34 employees gave to the United Way (this also includes the staff that continues to give without stopping from one year to another). Total raised for 2000/2001 was $4,166.00, our participation is 12.8% this changed our percentage to 20.1%.

This is just wonderful and we hope next year we will see a bigger increase. Giving to the United Way shows that someone cares and wants to see something better for people in need of help. It's not a charity but a gift to people with cancer, blindness, jobless, homeless, etc. Please consider giving next January and help someone that needs it.

Thanks to everyone that gave and again, what an AWESOME school!

Market Day – PTCO would like to remind you that the last day for Market Day orders with the order blank is this Friday. Please send them to the PTCO Office. Market day has a minimum of 30 orders and $2,000.00 in sales each month. Last month we did 30 orders and $2,000.00 in sales. Our kids got $250.00 for that. Let us make that goal again for March.

FACTS ABOUT ISD

Unique Local Insights

In order to gain unique insights regarding the quality of ISD programs and services, surveys were distributed to parents, students and teachers. The School Profile Committee using a model used by a local public school modified the parent survey. The student and teacher survey consisted of opinion inventories developed by the National Study of School Evaluation (NSSE). In addition, NSSE prepared an executive summary report, which included a comparison report between student and teacher responses.

Responses to surveys were very positive. Forty percent (40%) of the parents responded to the parent survey. Over 85% of the students in the Middle School and the High School responded to the student survey and over 95% of the teaching staff responded to the teacher survey. The overwhelming response, in itself, demonstrates a strong vested interest in the continuing improvement of ISD.

Parent Survey

Parents were asked to rate the school in areas of goal attainment, integration, maintenance and adaptation. Surveys were sent to each parent (238 parents) and 101 were returned. Parents rated the area adaptation the highest and integration the lowest in their responses to the survey. For a full and detailed report, see Appendix A for the results of the parent survey.

The first measure is goal attainment, which is defined as perception of the ability of the school to work together with parents in defining objectives and achieving desired student success. The most favorable responses were:

- ❖ ISD keeps parents well informed about how well their children are doing in school and what their children needs to be learning in school.

The least favorable responses were:

- ❖ ISD keeps parents well informed about what their children are learning in school and how parents can help their children at home.

Figure 1 shows how parents felt ISD was performing in regards to the measure of goal attainment.

The second measure is integration, which is defined as perceptions of the ability of the school to include parents in the various school tasks necessary for achievement. The most favorable responses were:

- ❖ ISD appreciates what parents have done to help ISD.

- ❖ ISD lets parents know when and where volunteer help is needed.

The least favorable responses were:

- ❖ ISD has made good use of parents' talents.

- ❖ Parents have been asked to help out at a school activity or event.

- ❖ Parents have been invited to participate on a school committee.

Figure 2 shows how parents felt ISD was performing in regards to the measure of integration.

The third measure is maintenance, which is defined as perception of the school's ability to create and maintain the school's motivational and value structure. The most favorable responses were:

- ❖ At ISD, the family's culture, ethnicity and religion are respected.

- ❖ ISD keeps parents well informed of PTCO/PAC meetings and events.

- ❖ ISD keeps parents well informed of school policies and procedures.

- ❖ Parents felt listened to at ISD.

- ❖ Parents felt they are treated as partners in their children's education.

- ❖ Parents felt the staff asks for and values their opinions.

There were no least favorable responses. Figure 3 shows how parents felt ISD was performing in regards to the measure of maintenance.

The fourth measure is adaptation: perception of the school's ability to successfully deal with the parents. The most favorable responses were:

- ❖ Parents felt ISD staff is friendly when they visit or call.

- ❖ Parents like taking their children to ISD.

- ❖ Parents can easily reach their children's teachers if they need to.

- ❖ If there are problems, parents know whom to contact.

- ❖ Parents felt problems related to their children are addressed quickly and fairly.

- ❖ Parents felt involved at ISD.

There were no least favorable responses. Figure 4 shows how parents felt ISD was performing in regards to the measure of adaptation.

The key findings of the parent survey show that there is much parent satisfaction with the school and the staff at ISD. Weaknesses in the areas of goal attainment and integration have been identified as areas of potential school improvement.

Facts about ISD

Student Survey

Middle school students and high school students were asked to participate in a survey using the NSSE Opinion Inventories. Students were asked to rate programs and services in order to provide ISD with data. This data will guide the school in its improvement process. Of the 166 students, 137 surveys were completed and returned. For a detailed report of the analysis of responses prepared by NSSE in its executive summary presentation report, refer to Exhibit A.

Based on the mean scores, a listing of most favorable responses and least favorable responses was provided. Students' most favorable responses were:

- I am in the student activities (clubs, plays, sports, student government, etc.) that I want to be in.

- Parents feel welcome in our school.
- Students feel safe traveling to and from school.
- Our school provides students and teachers with a safe and orderly environment for learning.
- Teachers hold high expectations for learning.

The least favorable responses were:

- Cheating occurs infrequently in our school.
- Sexual harassment is not a problem at our school.
- Discipline policies are fair at this school.
- I am satisfied with the extent to which the administration includes students in making decisions about matters that directly affect students (e.g. dress standards, assemblies, hall passes, etc.).
- There is not a significant problem with substance abuse (e.g., drug and/or alcohol problems) among the students of this school.

In analyzing the report on least favorable responses, it is important to note that an average score of 3.0 or above indicates neutral to positive opinions. Given this caution, the only least favorable response scoring below 3.0 was "Cheating occurs infrequently in our school." A resource provided by NSSE in the report is the "National Pattern of User Response Report." This report is based on a national sample of data collected by NSSE fostering comparison of opinions expressed by students at ISD with opinions expressed by students nationally.

ISD students, on all items, rated common survey items higher than those expressed by students nationally. Furthermore, ISD students also rated survey items within each category of items higher than the national pattern of responses. The following is a listing of common survey items and category items along with rating scores expressed by ISD students compared with national patterns.

Special congratulations to Joseph Pfaff for his third straight First Place in this tournament. He won First in the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Grades.

Search for New Superintendent - SD's Superintendent Search process is in full swing. Advertisements communicating the availability of the superintendent's position have been published, and many inquiries have been made. During this period, several other deaf schools have also announced superintendent vacancies. Given that potential candidates need sufficient time to compare and evaluate the various opportunities that are available, the ISD School Board has decided to extend the superintendent search application deadline to April 7, 2001. With the revised timeline, it is anticipated that interviews will commence in early May and that a selection would be made in June. Additional updates will be provided in the future. - Scott Jensen, Chairman, ISD School Board Technology Purchase - The technology center is pleased to announce that we purchased an expensive printer that has the ability to print 24 inches wide and up to 150 feet long, and in color! You will be able to produce large banners and posters using that printer. The printer will be kept in Scotty Zwicker's art classroom. Although the printer is stored in there, the printer actually belongs to the general ISD community. Anyone can come and ask to use the printer. However, due to the cost of paper rolls and the printer itself, we must limit the types of print jobs to those that are considered necessary. I realize it will be difficult to be judgmental on which printer jobs are necessary or not. I will defer the judgment to Scotty on a trial basis. Examples of acceptable print jobs: exhibit posters, Hands Alive posters, winning artwork, etc. Examples of NOT-acceptable print jobs: individual portraits, ongoing class projects, individual art projects, etc. Come visit Scott's classroom and check this printer out! - Jay Krieger, Technology Director.

STUDENTS: Hands Alive Student Art Show - Today is the deadline for applications for the Hands Alive Student Art Show. The artwork deadline is March 16th. For an application and information, contact Scotty Zwicker in the Vocational Building, Room 7209.

New Yearbook Email Address - The ISD Yearbook office has a new email address. It is isdymbk@hotmail.com.

Market Day - PTCO would like to remind you that the last day for Market Day orders with the order blank is today. Please send them to the PTCO Office. Market day has a minimum of 30 orders and $2,000.00 in sales in a month. Last month we did 30 orders and $2,000.00 in sales. Our kids got $250.00 for that. Let us make that goal again for March.

Deaf President Now!

When Gallaudet University began searching for a new president in 1988, qualified deaf applicants were encouraged to apply. Two of the three finalists were deaf. When the selection of the hearing applicant was announced, protesting students, alumni, faculty, and staff closed the University.

Following an outpouring of support from around the world, Gallaudet's first deaf president, I. King Jordan, was appointed along with a new deaf chairperson and deaf majority on the Board of Trustees. Many people deaf and hearing view this week as the start of Deaf Empowerment.

Editor's Note

March 13 through April 15 is Deaf History Month. The DB will feature articles and information about Deaf History in the issues for the next four weeks. If you have pictures and narratives that you want to share with the ISD Community, please contact Dan Stutler at 924-8414 or djstutler@isfd.state.in.us.

Facts about ISD

Teacher Survey

Teachers at ISD were asked to participate in a survey using the NSSE Opinion Inventories. As for students, teachers were asked to rate programs and services in order to provide ISD with data in order to guide the school in its improvement process. Teachers in preschool, elementary, middle and high schools along with the Outreach Department participated in the survey and eighty-four (84) surveys were completed and returned. For a detailed report of the analysis of responses prepared by NSSE in its executive summary presentation report, refer to Exhibit A.

The method of completing the survey, calculation of responses and analysis of the report was similar to how the student survey was conducted. Teachers' most favorable responses were:

- ◆ Teachers give students personal encouragement in their work.
- ◆ All things considered, I am satisfied with being a teacher.
- ◆ Teachers provide instructional activities that involve students in their learning.
- ◆ I use the results of assessments of student learning to modify and adjust my teaching strategies to best meet learning needs.

- ◆ A variety of teaching strategies and learning activities is provided to students to help them learn.

The least favorable responses were:

- ◆ Teachers are provided adequate time each day to prepare for teaching.
- ◆ Parents take an active role in their children's education.
- ◆ Our school is doing a good job in the following areas: Career/Vocational Education.
- ◆ Our school is doing a good job in the following areas: Foreign Languages.
- ◆ The school's programs meet the requirements of students with special needs (learning disabled, gifted and talented, etc.).

In analyzing the report on least favorable responses, it is important to note that an average score of 3.0 or above indicates neutral to positive opinions. All of the least favorable responses scored below 3.0. As with the student survey, a resource provided by NSSE in the report is the "National Pattern of User Response Report." This report is based on a national sample of data collected by NSSE fostering comparison of opinions expressed by teachers at ISD with opinions expressed by teachers nationally.

ISD teachers, on all items, rated common survey items below than those expressed by teachers nationally. Furthermore, ISD teachers also rated survey items within each category of items lower than the national pattern of responses. The following is a listing of common survey items and category items along with rating scores expressed by ISD teachers compared with national patterns.

Action may not always bring happiness, but without action there is no happiness. – Benjamin Disraeli

FORMATION OF A DEAF COMMUNITY

In the early 1800s, the Reverend Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet traveled to Europe seeking effective teaching methods for educating deaf children at the request of Dr. Mason F. Cogswell, the father of a deaf daughter. Gallaudet returned with Laurent Clerc, a deaf teacher from the Paris Institute for the Deaf. With financial and organizational help from interested citizens and the Connecticut General Assembly, they established the Connecticut Asylum for the Education of Deaf and Dumb Persons in 1817, in Hartford, now known as the American School for the Deaf.

Gallaudet, an Evangelical Protestant minister, described his life's work as hastening Christ's return to earth by spreading the gospel. He once wrote, "No other object than the salvation of souls of the pupils can be named as of the highest moment." Gallaudet and many early teachers of deaf children learned sign language for the same reason other missionaries learned Native American or African languages—to bring the gospel to people seen as living beyond its reach.

Clerc brought to Hartford the sign language of Paris, a city with a large Deaf community and sophisticated sign language. This language, which he taught to other teachers, commingled with sign languages deaf students brought from across the country—some from New York, some from Philadelphia, some from Martha's Vineyard, home to an unusually large population of deaf people at the time—and out of this mix came modern American Sign Language.

As with comparison of teacher survey with national patterns where teachers were below on all items, scores to the teacher survey consistently were below student averages on common survey items as well. The following is a list of the common items in the student survey and the teacher survey included in the NSSE opinion inventories:

	ISD Students	ISD Teachers
The educational program offered to students is of high quality.	3.63	3.56

Quality of Instructional Programs	3.79	3.50
Support for Student Learning	3.82	3.45
School Climate/Environment for Learning	3.69	3.65
Total Score Comparison	3.78	3.50

Key findings of the student survey and the teacher survey were:

1. student responses regarding ISD programs and services is higher than the national pattern of students in schools;
2. teacher responses regarding ISD programs and services is lower than the national pattern of teachers in schools;
3. student responses regarding ISD programs and services is higher than teacher responses.

Surveys provided valuable data that will guide the development of recommendations for improving ISD programs and services. Perceived weaknesses will be considered as areas of potential school improvement.

Happiness is not a destination; it is a method of life. – Burton Hills

FORMATION OF A DEAF COMMUNITY

Whenever significant numbers of deaf people come together, Deaf communities have come into existence. Sign languages are natural languages that have evolved within Deaf communities and, as such, are neither universal nor based upon the spoken languages of their countries.

American Sign Language (ASL), for example, has a grammar and vocabulary distinct from English, just as Japanese Sign Language is distinct from spoken Japanese. The little-known history of the American Deaf community parallels the experiences and struggles of other minority groups. Deaf Americans have formed local, state, and national organizations, established newspapers and magazines, founded schools, gathered in churches where ASL was the language of song and sermon alike, and organized politically to protect and promote their interests. The great majority of Deaf people have found not just their friends but also their spouses within the Deaf community.

Luck is always more abundant the harder you work. – The Cub's Little Book of Wisdom

FORMATION OF A DEAF COMMUNITY

The school at Hartford was the first of many residential schools that soon opened around the country. Thousands of young deaf people came to these schools to spend years living and studying together. More than a new sign language came into existence. A new culture was born, enriched by each passing generation, that came to include folklore, poetry, oratory, games, and jokes in ASL, as well as distinctive rules of etiquette and naming practices. From this common language and common experience arose an American Deaf community.

Good humor is one of the best articles of dress one can wear in society. – William Makepeace Thackeray

Preparation for the Workplace

Schools for deaf students were among the first in the nation to offer vocational training in addition to core academic courses. Like other Americans at the time, most deaf people went into what we today call "blue collar" occupations. Many schools offered such courses as printing, shoemaking, woodworking, dressmaking, cooking, and tailoring, giving their graduates a competitive advantage in the world of work.

As early as 1837, deaf people began establishing periodicals to report local and national news of interest to the Deaf community. Although some—such as the Silent World in Washington, D.C.—were independent newspapers, many were produced in school print shops. Schools exchanged papers with each other, creating an informal network known as the "little paper family" which reinforced a sense of national community. Some, such as the New Jersey school's Silent Worker, delivered news from national and international correspondents to subscribers across the country.

Week's Wrap-Up

by Principal Kovatch

This week, the senior class received a letter of regret from ISD alumni, Carl Pramuck, expressing his inability to be the graduation speaker at the commencement ceremony. It seems that he has a conflict since his cohort group for his doctorate studies is meeting that same weekend, and he must attend those class meetings. He went on to say that when he was a student at ISD, he set the goal to earn a Ph.D. He soon will achieve that goal. I reflected on his e-mail and thought that his message of regret could be one of the most important messages they receive as senior..."Set your goals high and then work hard to achieve them." I'm sure that "Dr. Pramuck" will speak at some ISD function in the future.

Thanks to all of the educational staff for the smooth fire drills on Thursday morning, especially for all of the student rosters, emergency kits, and closed doors! We improve with each drill. April and May drills will be the best yet!

There has been some discussion among staff members concerning the DEAF NETWORK presentation (Greater Indianapolis Deaf Club, March 17, 7:00 p.m.) by Elizabeth Beldon entitled, "SICK-ME-YOU Hearing People." Elizabeth was contacted and explained that the presentation and accompanying title are not meant to offend anyone. The presentation will be a review of the ironic and humorous experiences she has had "out in the world." People, who have seen this presentation, said that it was funny, poignant and not at all offensive. In addition, the Administrative Team will review the school's policy on posting flyers for outside organizations.

Good luck to high school student, Thomas Barnett, in the finals of Project XL this Saturday.

4th Annual Alumni/Staff vs. Boys/Girls Varsity Nets Money for Upcoming WGA in Rome

Two spirited games were played in the Caskey Gym last night with proceeds going to the Rome WGD this summer. In the opener the women alumni and staff were out-gunned by the Girls Varsity Team 55-41. The SOPH-COMBO of Paulone, Hossler and Richie put together 42 points to overwhelm the spirited play of the staff and alumni cagers. Melissa Buterbaugh and Jojan Jeter kept the boards clean while Valerie Sharer, Cherish Lewis, Candice Lusenby, April Young, Dorothea Williams and Annalee Laird dosed out tight defense, razzle-dazzle and fast breaks. Carissa Zmijewski, Ruth Asher-Lynch, Lori Kiel, Amanda Huser and Aimee Bippus led the attack for the alumni/staff team. The evening was filled with Asher-Lynch battling Buterbaugh and Jeter, Zmijewski running the offense and Huser/Bippus eyeing threes. Kiel applied a punishing defense whenever possible. The deep bench included Brenda Mowl fighting for control of the paint, Teri Motter and Molly Peters trying to psych-out their opponents, Dawn Walker going low and Keri Watkins and Linda McKay applying court supervision!

The boys' game was a seesaw event with neither team able to open a wide lead over the other. After a short burst in the 1st Quarter (A/S 12 - V2), the players settled in for a physical battle. Up at the half (35-32), the Varsity was cautiously confident. The A/S core of Brian Bippus, David Catt, Curtis Sigafoose, Derrick DuBois and Daric Brye along with the fresh legs supplied by Rodney Lewis, Justin Wilson and David Webster had a hard time containing Robert Haney who fouled out in the 4th Quarter with 32 points. Jim "Big Iron" Hall was a monster rebounder and hit some key jumpers. Onye Davis and Kevin Webster were inside and outside threats, while Jeff Stotts, Bobby Polstra and Anthony Mowl kept the A/S team moving by trying to block their 3-point attempts. Will Dickman provided key baskets and a calming effect in the overtime period. Andy Barker was a spark plug off the bench.

A last second 3-point attempt by Bippus went halfway down, rattled the rim, hit the backboard and bounced out to let the Varsity escape with a 72-70 overtime win. Coach Westhoelter's heart stopped for those last few seconds! The girls' record stands at Varsity - 1 and Alumni/Staff - 0. The boys' record now is Varsity - 1 and A/S 3.

A great time had by all. Thanks for supporting our staff/alumni going to Rome this summer!

Laughter is the shortest distance between two people. – Victor Borge

With the Civil War and increasing levels of immigration, many Americans began to fear that diversity led to divisiveness. Some educators decried the "clannishness" of the Deaf community. Schools began to add lipreading and speech to the curriculum. Oral educators advocated eliminating sign language, likening the Deaf community to a community of immigrants, and suggesting that deaf people had become "foreigners among their own countrymen."

A speech lesson at the New York Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes.

Speech and rhythm classes in the parlor of the McGowen Oral School in Chicago

Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf

A debate ensued between supporters of a "combined approach"—that is, using both signed and spoken language—and advocates of what was then called "pure oralism." By 1920, 80 percent of deaf students were taught in oral education programs, without sign language, and deaf teachers were reduced from 40% of the profession in the 1860s to less than 15%. Still, in most schools sign language retained a vigorous presence outside the classroom.

Organizations of deaf people, such as the National Association of the Deaf, rose to the defense of sign language, and argued that oral communication alone was inadequate for many deaf people.

In 1867, the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in New York and the Clarke Institution for Deaf-Mutes in Northampton, Massachusetts were started by proponents of oral education and began pioneering techniques for teaching by oral means alone. Clarke Institution (now CLARKE-School for the Deaf/Center for Oral Education) also stressed early education for young children when most other schools admitted students at 10 or 12 years of age. Methods of teaching speech, listening and speechreading developed at Clarke have been widely used in schools throughout the country.

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and one of the most effective proponents of oralism, in 1872 opened a school in Boston to train teachers of deaf children. He and his father before him had spent their lives studying the physiology of speech. For Bell, "to ask the value of speech is like asking the value of life."

He described sign language as "essentially a foreign language" and believed that "in an English speaking country like the United States, the English language, and the English language alone, should be used as the means of communication and instruction." In 1890, Bell founded the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, Inc., now known as the Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf.

PROJECT XL FINALIST

ISD Senior, Thomas Barnett, was one of the ten state finalists in the annual Project XL competition last Saturday at the University of Indianapolis. The Farm Bureau Insurance Company sponsored the competition. Bob Gregory, former Channel 13 Weatherman, was the master of ceremonies. Students from all over Indiana competed as finalists in six categories: writing, 3-dimensional art, performance, video art, 2-dimensional art and music.

Thomas danced to his interpretation of the song, "I Believe I Can Fly." Afterwards, the judges asked the performers several questions. Thomas's answers included these statements: "My performance includes gestures, facial expressions and body language." "ASL is a beautiful language." "The song, "I Believe I Can Fly" is a message for all of mankind – whether in school, sports or life. The powerful and strong song and words inspire all people – Deaf and or hearing."

Congratulations to Thomas for being one of the state's top finalists. Top honors were won by students from Broad Ripple and Hamilton Southeastern High Schools.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

By Margaret Hill (From: Chicken Soup for the Teenage Soul II)

The six teenagers sank onto their beanbags in the group counseling room. Today there was none of the usual raucous punching and good-natured exchange of insults. I knew they didn't want to be at school this week any more than I, their counselor, did. For three days they had received counseling, comfort, sympathy, and lectures. Ministers and psychologists had come to the school at a time when the kids' world seemed to have ended. It had indeed ended for four of their schoolmates, who had died in a car accident on the way home from a keg party in celebration of graduation.

What was there left for me to say? Only that these six would go on living, barring a tragedy like this one – a tragedy that didn't have to happen. My mind searched for words to fill the silence. Finally I said, "I remember a day when I was about your age, seeing a fancy Levi's jacket and jodhpurs in a store window." "I simply couldn't live without that outfit. I went into the store, found the garments in my size, and bought them without asking how much they cost. I practically had a heart attack when the clerk told me the price. There went all the spending money I had saved. In fact, I had to go home and rob my piggy bank and then go back to the store for my purchase."

At that point in my story, I paused long enough to note that the group members were staring at me with questioning eyes. After all, what did this have to do with their grief? So I babbled on. "Was the outfit worth that much? No way, I concluded during the following months, when I had to do without several things I needed or wanted, including a class ring." My counselees continued to look at me with so-what? expressions. "I did learn from that experience," I said finally. "I learned to ask, 'What does it cost?' before buying." "During the years following, I've learned that looking at price tags is a good idea when it comes to actions, also." I told them about a time when I went on a hike with friends without telling our parents where we would be. The price was heavy. We got lost, and it was many terrifying hours before we straggled back to town to face our frantic parents and the drastic punishments they decided we deserve.

Now it was the kids' turn to talk, and they did, relating some of the times when their bad judgment had not been worth the cost of the consequences. I gently reminded the students at this point that their friends' graduation celebration had cost too much. I mentioned the frequency of teen tragedies, many involving alcohol and other drugs. Then I read them parts of an editorial about an accident that had occurred a few months earlier. The article had been written by the town's chief of police:

Close to a thousand people were there that day, all sitting in front of a smooth casket topped with flowers and a high school letter jacket. Jason was president of the senior class, a star athlete, a popular friend to hundreds, the only son of successful parents, but he drove into the side of a fast-moving freight train at the city square on a beautiful Sunday Afternoon and was killed instantly. He was 18 year old. And he was drunk. You never get accustomed to or forget the horror on the faces of parents when you break the news to them that their child is forever gone from this earth.

We know there will be both youth and parents who don't like our enforcement posture. There will be verbal and maybe physical abuse against the officers. Some parents will complain about our enforcement of under-age drinking laws. But we can live with that a lot easier than telling parents that their son or daughter has been killed. Four of the six students were crying when I finished reading the editorial. Crying for Jason, for their dead schoolmates and their families, for their own loss.

Then we talked about the four friends they had just lost. "Can any good come out of our tragedy?" I asked. It was Mindy, the shyest member of the group, who suggested, "Maybe we could make a pledge or something." Ordinarily, the three boys in the group would probably have ridiculed the idea, but this day was different. "Hey!" Jonathan said. "Not a bad idea." "Something like pretending there's a price tag on things grown-ups think we shouldn't do, then deciding if we're ready to take the chance anyway," Laurel added. Paul said, "We can't know for sure what the price would be. Maybe nothing bad will happen even if we take the risk." "That's a point," I admitted. "Suppose instead of 'How much will it cost?' we ask ourselves, 'How much might it cost?' Then we'd at least look at the possible outcomes." "I'll buy that," Kent said.

A week ago, these kids would have shrugged off such suggestions, but today – well, today they weren't the same people they had been last week.

Clarification from Principal Kovatch - I would like to thank all of the well-wishers who either mentioned, e-mailed, or sent me cards concerning my recent graduation from the IPLA. I also noticed that there was a little bit of confusion among some staff members, because they thought I had already completed administration courses several years ago. In fact, I graduated from the Experiential Program for Preparing School Principals (EPPSP), Butler University, in 1990. That program presented me with a master's degree in school administration and supervision. However, I do not have a lifetime license and therefore must renew my administration license every five years by earning six graduate level courses. The EPPSP program accepts twenty-five applicants per class. Those twenty-five aspiring principals go through the two-year program together. The Indiana Principal Leadership Academy is sponsored by the Indiana Department of Education. It was initiated about fifteen years ago to help practicing principals renew and polish their skills. The IPLA accepts around fifty principals in each of their classes to go through a two-year program together. Upon graduating from IPLA, I received six credits towards my license renewal, several certificates, and a plaque presented to me from Dr. Sue Ellen Reed. That plaque is in the center of my west office wall. Feel free to take a look if my door is open, and the office is clear. One of my early goals as an educator was to be a life-long learner. These two programs have provided me with outstanding information, opportunities to stretch my limits, network with administrators around the state, and apply new knowledge to programs at ISD. Thank you for the opportunity for me to share this with you and the privilege of working with such a dedicated and caring staff.

The human race has only one really effective weapon, and that is laughter. – Mark Twain

World Wars I & II and the Deaf Community

During World Wars I and II, male industrial workers left their jobs for the military created job opportunities for women and minorities including deaf people. In those years, deaf workers established impressive work records and made significant contributions to America's war-time efforts. Many of the Deaf schools were converted to military camps and used to train soldiers. The attached picture shows Deaf students at the New York School for the Deaf in Fanwood participating in military drill exercises.

The uniform to the right was worn by cadets at the Minnesota State Academy for the Deaf. The grounds of the Indiana School for the Deaf were used to train soldiers in World War I. More than 1800 men received training at ISD during the 1918-19 school year after the school was closed on April 30, 1918. Deaf students were provided a correspondence course while the school was closed. Approximately 228 pupils took part in these courses with 184 completing the whole course. (From the Susquicentennial 1843-1994.)

The Goodyear Rubber production facilities in Akron, Ohio and other war industries recruited large numbers of deaf employees. Deaf people, who came to Akron, created a highly visible and active community. Great pride was taken in the semi-professional football team (the "Goodyear Silents"). The local press covered deaf community news and events. A wide array of social events was sponsored by the local Deaf club.

Announcements

Fresh Donuts On Sale – The Applied Curriculum students are selling fresh donuts beginning at 8:50 in Room 204 of Alumni Hall. All of the proceeds support the students' trip to St. Louis.

Congratulations to Joseph Pfaff, Eighth Grader! – He won third place in his age group (13-14) in the Indiana State Wrestling Tournament last weekend in Bloomington. He won five matches and lost one. The tournament is co-sponsored by the Indiana State Wrestling Association and the AAU. It was the toughest challenge that he has faced in wrestling. Joseph qualified for the National Kids Wrestling Tournament in Topeka, Kansas on March 29-31. Good luck to Joseph in the national tournament!

HS Track Schedule Changed – On the HS Boys Track Team schedule, the Broad Ripple event has been changed to 4/25 @4:30 @ Broad Ripple.

Market Day Cancelled - Market Day is cancelled. This Thursday is also cancelled. I would like thank all of those who participated. However, we did not make the minimum so I needed to cancel. I am very sorry that it did not work. Maybe, we can find the right program to help the kids. Rick Ogan, PTCO

Tech News - Yesterday the installation of our new network switches was completed! Finally! This is considered the true birth of our new ISDNet. Like any birth, we must experience some "labor" pain. As we attempted the transition from the old network over to the new network, we experienced some problems. Some people reported that they suddenly were not able to get on the Internet. Other people reported that they lost access to their email systems. All these problems are typical and are to be expected when we have two networks running concurrently. Eventually, and hopefully soon, everyone will be on the new one and the old one would be taken down. Today, for the entire day if that is required, we (Bobby, Peter and myself) will work full time on these network migration issues, and may not be able to attend to your immediate problems or your PRATickets. We want to ensure the new network is operating properly and that everyone is back online and happy. We realize that everyone has something important, but we appreciate your patience as we enable the new system. Thank you. Jay Krieger.

BSU Overnight -The 2000-01 participants will not be in class on Friday due to the BSU Overnight. They will be touring each department with the future BSU participants for the 2001-02 school year. Please excuse them from class for the day.

Varsity Boys Basketball – Please excuse the Varsity Boys Team on Friday, March 23 at 11:00 am. They will be attending the Kiwanis Club of Indianapolis 55th Annual Basketball State Finals Luncheon honoring the eight teams. Keith Westhoelter will accompany:

Deaf Clubs

In most towns and cities, Deaf people established clubs that became the centers for social life. In larger cities the members might own their own building. In smaller towns rented rooms over a downtown store often had to suffice.

The "Deaf club" was not only a gathering place but also hosted social events as varied as traveling Deaf comedians and other entertainers. Films by Deaf filmmakers like Dog Trouble were shown in Deaf clubs across the country. Notice the schedule of screenings at different Deaf clubs throughout the Midwest.

Deaf clubs also featured captioned films, lectures, card games, dramatic performances, story telling, and holiday parties, and the sponsor for frequent athletic events and group outings. Above, you see the 1947 May Dance and Get -Together of the Philadelphia and Washington, DC Silent Clubs. (From the Archives of the National Black Deaf Advocates)

The early teletype machines, sometimes available at Deaf clubs, were originally used by the Western Union to send teletypes. A Deaf man invented this technology.

Technologies for the Deaf

The "Information Age" of the late twentieth century introduced an explosion of new technologies profoundly influencing the lives of deaf people. Closed captioning on TV and video, TTYs and national telephone relay services, hearing aids, flashing doorbells, bed-vibrating and strobe-light alarm clocks, FAX machines and e-mail, have helped to make daily activities more accessible to deaf people.

The use of new communications technology, along with the increased awareness of discriminatory practices, has reduced many barriers. Many technological developments have served to bring oral and signing deaf people together in common cause. For example, an array of professional, social, and political action organizations of and for deaf people worked together to ensure passage of the Television Decoder Circuitry Act in 1993, which required all new television sets with screens 13 inches or larger to incorporate closed captioning technology.

When one door of happiness closes, another opens; but often we look so long at the closed door that we do not see the one, which has opened for us. – Helen Keller

Are Deaf People....?

OR

Not all technological developments are universally accepted. The cochlear implant, for example, has inspired both strong support and vehement opposition. As early as 1979, the University of California-San Francisco developed this single-channel engineering prototype with an internal receiver, and multiple electrodes.

Generally hailed as a boon for people who have lost their hearing, the use of cochlear implants in children has been controversial. While the conflict is in part between those who view deafness as a disability, and those who see it as a valued cultural identity, at the core of the debate are disagreements over the relative risks, benefits, and effectiveness.

There are more than one hundred eighty (180) hospitals and clinics that provide cochlear implants in the United State and Canada. It's big business! Manufacturers like Clarion spend tremendous amounts of money on research and advertisements to convince governmental sources like the FDA and consumers like parents that their product is beneficial. Just look at the following quotation from Clarion's website.

"Its extraordinary capability to deliver the fine details of sound in high resolution will provides the versatility required to implement many exciting advances from research on cochlear implants. The electronic platform of the CLARION CII Bionic Ear provides the versatility required to implement many exciting advances from research on cochlear implants. Its extraordinary capability to deliver the fine details of sound in high resolution will provide the hearing health profession with a powerful tool to manage children and adults with severe and profound hearing loss. This is how deafness will be treated worldwide over the next decade." - Dr. Gerald Loeb, M.D., Professor of Biomedical Engineering at USC, a world-renowned scientist who was one of the original developers of cochlear implants and whose research has been published in Science, Journal of Neuroscience, Annals of Otology, Rhinology and Laryngology, and Scientific American.

Does the "hearing health profession" need "powerful tools to manage children and adults with severe and profound hearing loss?"

Fireballs – Special applause to Debbie Fetzner who made the Hands Alive Talent Show a roaring success! Also to Donna Stutler for the snazzy reception afterwards! Be sure to check last Saturday's Indianapolis Star newspaper for full-color/article coverage.

Junior, Anthony Mowl, and Sophomores Pia Marie Paulone and Drew Robarge, who represented ISD last weekend in the Gallaudet University, sponsored Midwest Schools for the Deaf Academic Bowl contest, hosted by the Ohio School for the Deaf. ISD placed second out of twelve schools.

Midwest Regional Academic Bowl – No Anthony Mowl, Pia Marie Paulone, and Drew Robarge didn't make a basket or score a touchdown this past weekend, but they worked every bit as hard to represent ISD at the Midwest Regional Academic Bowl against very tough opponents at the Ohio School for the Deaf.

These three rookies played three Deaf Schools and three Mainstream programs to get into the championship round, seeded 1st in their pool. Although they lost the championship to Hersey, a team of seniors they beaten by 19 points earlier in the day, they played so well and impressed everyone who watched.

ISD was fortunate to have a slew of fans that traveled three hours to cheer us on. Thanks to all who made the effort to support us.

With a young, talented team, ISD should be a top contender next year. – Coaches Mary Kovatch & Chuck Daube.

For Your Information – Staff members arrived last Friday morning to find their office/classroom doors "sealed shut" with a strip of masking tape. That was a result of a building evacuation/search that took place between 3:45 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. after a bomb threat had been discovered. The evacuation and search went very smoothly and the "all clear" signal was soon reinstated. Thanks to the staff that helped in the process.

Stop Child Abuse! - APRIL is National Prevent Child Abuse Month. During the year 2000 in Indiana, 44 children died of child abuse. There were 72,704 total reports of child abuse and neglect and 24,641 of these reports were "substantiated" by Child Protective Services. Prevent Child Abuse Indiana suggests that to help our children, "We must change our priorities. Every time we work, learn, play or pray, we need to ask each other, HOW ARE OUR CHILDREN?" Our theme and our question for the month of April will be, "How are our children?" here at ISD. There will be a table with activities and information regarding Prevention of Child Abuse all day Monday, April 23rd provided by Cathy Pardee and interested members of the Outreach Dept. All staff are welcome to become involved – just call Cathy at 920-6295. The Children's Museum of Indianapolis will be honoring National Prevent Child Abuse Month. A Resource Fair will be available to visitors to the museum for the month of April. On April 5th from 5 to 8 p.m., the museum hosts Family Night when admission is FREE. This is a great opportunity to visit the museum, take advantage of some wonderful resources and support children as well.

Silent Retreat - ICRID Invites Deaf and Hard of Hearing to the Annual Spring Retreat on March 30 and 31. This year, join us as we "Take a Safari into the Jungles of ASL." This is a unique opportunity providing participants an opportunity to be in a total ASL environment. On March 30th (Friday night), we invite the Deaf community to come and socialize with us. Activities planned for the evening are: a ritual through "no more spoken English", snacks, team-building activities, and story-time. Please come and enjoy this time with us! Please, no children. Lead Safari Guides are Lynn Frye, Janna Lippie & Bob Canty

Purdue Researchers - Dr. Ronnie Wilbur and Dr. Diane Brentari (Audiology and Speech Sciences) are working with Dr. Avinash Kak and Dr. Aleix Martinez from the School of Electrical and Computer Engineering on a National Science Foundation research grant entitled An Integrated Linguistic-Computational Approach to Automatic Recognition of American Sign Language. This project offers a novel approach to the problem of automatic recognition, and eventually translation of American Sign Language (ASL). The project is working to develop an ASL handshape recognition protocol. The procedure is designed so that linguistic information about ASL handshapes can be used to assist a computer to decide which handshape it "sees". This will be used to integrate the recognition procedure as the front-end user-interface of an ASL-English machine translation device for signer-speaker interactions in practical settings (workplace, classrooms).

HS Teachers - Athletics has set up a grade monitoring system for students who have low grades in the 3rd Quarter. Each student has a form that needs to be filled out weekly by you as their teacher to monitor their grade and progress. Please help the student athlete with his or her weekly grading report and progress toward better grades. Thank you!! – Brian Bippus Playground Committee Meeting – The committee will meet on Wednesday, March 28 at 3:15 pm in the Multi-Purpose Room. Staff and parents are invited to this meeting. Representatives from three playground equipment companies will be at the meeting to explain their design suggestions for the playground between Raney and Willard Halls. An architecture firm will also be represented to explain possible services for the area. Everyone is invited to ask questions, and refreshments will be served. The Playground Committee will meet on Monday, April 9 at 3:15 to make final recommendations to the school for playground equipment purchases for the 2001-2002 school year. Diane Hazel Jones will facilitate both meetings. If you have questions, please contact Diana Battiste, Beth Slavens or Dan Stutler. 1. Please do not allow students in these areas unsupervised. Students should always be accompanied by a responsible teacher or residential advisor.

2. Fishing, swimming, or wading is NOT allowed in the Wetlands.
2. Dogs are NOT allowed in our Prairie or in the Wetlands. Please do not bring your dogs to school on weekends or other times and allow them to run free in our wildlife habitats.
3. Please do not allow students to throw trash on the ground or into the pond. Please do not throw rocks or any other items into the pond. If you see trash on the ground, please help us keep our wildlife habitats beautiful by picking it up and putting in one of the trash containers.
4. Please do not allow students to touch the plastic that covers the outside of our Greenhouse. Students have poked holes in the plastic and now we have to replace the plastic in order to keep heat and humidity at proper levels in the Greenhouse.

2001-02 ISD Calendar Dates - Education staff will receive copies of the 2001-02 calendar dates today in their mailboxes. Other staff will receive their copies through their department heads. Mandates from the Indiana Department of Education and the state have necessitated some alterations in our calendar. Other changes such as the A.M./P.M. schedules on half days ensure a better balance of instructional time. Changes include:

1. Newly-hired staff will report to work on Monday, August 6, 2001 for orientation.
2. Returning staff will report to work for in service days on Wednesday, August 8, 2001. Educational staff will be expected to prepare their rooms, bulletin boards and materials on their own time prior to the reporting date or in the evenings. The in-service days of August 8-10 will be utilized for meetings.
3. Department of Education mandates concerning utilization of instructional time account for the following changes:
 - A. Alternating morning (A.M.) and afternoon (P.M.) schedules on half days will ensure that students receive the same amount of instructional time.
 - B. "Report Card" half days at the end of each quarter have been changed to "Parent/Teacher Conference Days" to increase the opportunities for parents to participate in their child's educational process.
 - C. Seniors (beginning with the Class of 2002) will graduate on the last day of school, May 23, 2002. DOE states that seniors must attend school for the entire school year and will no longer grant waivers for early graduation ceremonies.
 - D. Dismissal on the last day of school, May 23, 2002, will be at 3:00 p.m. There is the possibility that there will be three graduation ceremonies (Elem., MS, and HS) on that day.

Stop Child Abuse! - APRIL is National Prevent Child Abuse Month. During the year 2000 in Indiana, 44 children died of child abuse. There were 72,704 total reports of child abuse and neglect and 24,641 of these reports were "substantiated" by Child Protective Services. Prevent Child Abuse Indiana suggests that to help our children, "We must change our priorities. Every time we work, learn, play or pray, we need to ask each other, HOW ARE OUR CHILDREN?" Our theme and our question for the month of April will be, "How are our children?" here at ISD. There will be a table with activities and information regarding Prevention of Child Abuse all day Monday, April 23rd provided by Cathy Pardee and interested members of the Outreach Dept. All staff are welcome to become involved – just call Cathy at 920-6295. The Children's Museum of Indianapolis will be honoring National Prevent Child Abuse Month. A Resource Fair will be available to visitors to the museum for the month of April. On April 5th from 5 to 8 p.m., the museum hosts Family Night when admission is FREE. This is a great opportunity to visit the museum, take advantage of some wonderful resources and support children as well.

RENOVATION - Renovation will begin this Friday, March 30th in the Multi-Purpose Room. New carpet and tile will be installed first. No meetings can be scheduled for this room from Friday at noon until Sunday, April 8.
